CASE STUDY: ALKEN ASSET MANAGEMENT

Alken Asset Management had previously worked with several travel management companies, however their relationships with them had soured due to inconsistencies in both pricing and service levels.

Our first task was to understand Alken and exactly what they were expecting from the company tasked with handling their travel arrangements. Working with them we were able to understand that Alken were looking for a company that they can trust. They found they were sending the travel quotations to their multiple agents and either waiting for a response for hours or not receiving a response at all. As an extremely busy investment company, the staff of Alken Asset Management didn't have the time to wait for responses from their previous travel companies.

THE ISSUE

The accounts department were finding many transaction discrepancies when not using a centralised agent and there was an inconsistent level of service from each agent, with no escalated point of contact.

Travel policies were not being adhered to by members of the team when booking independently across several sites and agents, causing financial strain at times.

They also found themselves double checking the results.

Following our meeting, Your Travel Corporate set about building our relationship with Alken and in turn gaining their trust knowing our staff can relieve them of their workload. Upon the first reservation, we saved Alken a saving of over £1,500 on a Business Class ticket and in the same instance, upgraded the ticket to First Class without additional cost. Our relationship with Alken Asset Management has since gone from strength to strength, providing them with passenger profiles for their regular travelers to streamline the booking process.

THE RESOLUTION

As a team of 11, we work closely with each other to ensure there is never a delay in relaying documentation over to the appropriate departments - and this is consistently overseen by John and the team with speed and efficiency.

Your Travel Corporate actively monitor the Travel Policy for each quotation and booking - raising any scenarios in which an allowance may be required.
